Proven Results: Talent Retention

Before Training

Initial retention rate

After Training

Improved retention rate

A global construction company increased retention of project staff from 60% to over 80% by investing in PM capability. This improvement in project success led to greater contentment among project staff and their clients.

Real-World Application Success

"By equipping our early careers employees with the latest methodologies in project management, we aim to streamline processes, improve communication, and ensure alignment with industry best practices. Ultimately, investing in Project Management training empowers our workforce too"
